- 10 family heirlooms, highly recommended to be photos
- Notebook

“Think Like An Archivist and Share Your Personal History with Technology”

1:00 - 2:45 p.m.

To many individuals, archiving is a mystery and technology is scary. This two-part workshop will first introduce participants to the technology of the LAPL Central Library's Digital Media Lab. The second part will cover basic, Library of Congress-approved methods for organizing and preserving your personal records and family keepsakes, including photos, documents, newspapers, film, and other materials. Hands-on activity: Bring 10 keepsakes; instructors will lead you through a “clumping” activity to organize them. An event not to be missed.

Suzanne Im is the Metadata Librarian in LAPL's Digitization and Special Collections Department. She is coordinating the launch of the Memory Lab programs at Los Angeles Public Library.

Vi Ha is the Librarian responsible for the future Digital Media Lab at the Central Library.

FREE to the public. There will be a short break between speakers. The library will not be open for research. Times are approximate. Any questions please contact Charlotte rubymoon01@yahoo.com
