The Southern California Genealogical Society announces a free session for librarians who provide genealogical guidance to patrons.

The Librarians' Genealogy Boot Camp will provide practical tools for harried librarians trying to provide the best service to genealogists. Keep current on the best resources - online and in print - and services you should provide in your library.

Conducting the session will be Thomas Jay Kemp, the Director of Genealogy Products at NewsBank. A well-known librarian and genealogist for more than 44 years, Kemp is the author of more than thirty books. His numerous articles regularly appear in state and national library, archival and genealogical journals.
